

Reminiscences Caleb Bates July 15. 1844.

Rebecca or the Fille de chambre — A novel — By Mrs Rowson.

Page 142 - Col. Ashrop's house was in Hull now standing near the Hotel of Mons B. Tower. Col. A's real name was Haswell a ~~Captain~~ Lieutenant in the British Navy. He was on this station & his daughter was sent for to come out. Haswell's second wife was a woodward. She was aunt to Mrs Horn & Scarlet Woodson of Thirpham. Their mother was a woodward.

Mrs Lobden kept the house of entertainment in Hull.

p 147 The Americans burnt the Light House. They went from Thirpham Cove.

Hisa Mounded Marine — a fact. He died in Haswell's House. He was buried by the side of his garden (p 151)

(p 152) Canico to Thirpham — Stephen Lincoln's House now standing in Lincoln Hist. Oak forest on land now called Lincoln.

~~(p 155) Canico to Thirpham — a fact. He died in Haswell's House. He was buried by the side of his garden (p 151)~~

(p 157) You are to be conveyed 20 miles further into the country. They were carried to Abington * near where Elizabeth Roberts's house resides.

After removal

See note —

161. Peter Lane - Gen John Barker

the Clamatis were from a man related by the line of Birmingham.

Forces of Birmingham.

Dr Gay. Capt Joshua Barker (a half pay British Officer
a crown a day) | Capt Francis Barker & his son Capt
Francis Barker - Col. John Thaxton - Col. Jotham Gay.
Dea Joseph Thaxton, probably Benj. Thaxton, Henry Thaxton
Gen. John Barker Capt Geo Lane - John Barnes anti Barnes' grandfather -

Living the Bag.

Harry Thaxton daughter of Maj Samuel Thaxton was courted by Solomon Blake - frequently quarrelled - Blake boasted to Dr Thaxton that he (B) never got the bag. The or was his brother. She made a small bag of cotton - & put a ring in which he had given her - & ~~sent~~ sent it to him by a boy who delivered it in presence of several persons at some one of the shops - in the street message - With fully thirteen days the at if the Blake never had the bag before he had it now. —

* Note to the Kennells.

July 25. 1844. Mr David Andrews informs me that he drove the team to Shington which carried the Kennell's furniture. The house referred to was about half a mile to the right of the meeting house as you go from Weymouth. The next through Weymouth. The steved all right in the house.
It was not so bad as represented in the novel.

July 27. 1844. Mr Calvin Lincoln informs me that he recollected Mr Kennell well. He lived in his father's house at Broad Lane.

Mr Lincoln informs me that he recollected
David Hobart grandson of Rev Peter and father of Japheth. He was son of Rev Peter's youngest son.
I had the wrong place (that is Peter's son) for keeping at home. — David was a tanner.

Edith M. J. J.

Penicillium

July 15, 1844,

Capit. M. J. J.

Thuis

Dr. M. J. J.

A. M. J. J.